TERMS AND CONDITIONS

- If designers prefer direct slab discount for full-price items instead of commissions, they can avail it. Only one tax invoice with an indicated discount can be issued.
- If designers are entitled for a commission payout, they should use only their name that is verified in the system and not their client's name.
- If designers process multiple transactions in the course of one calendar month, the accumulative value will be taken into consideration before the month ends while calculating the commissions.
- In the event of any product return, the amount will be reduced from the total purchase value, i.e, the commission will be reduced and re-calculated as per the above given structure.
- Commissions will be transferred only to the designer's registered bank account in the UAE in the second week of following month after the delivery of the products has been made. For security reasons, international bank transfers are not permissible.
- In case of any dispute regarding the delivery, commission or discount, designers need to mail Parasol team at marketing@parasol.ae
- Parasol reserves the right to review the terms of the interior design program and make any changes if required without any notice.
